Do not store up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust destroy and where thieves break in and steal. But store up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust destroys, and where thieves do not break in or steal; for where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

A pair of hands is shown holding an open wooden treasure chest. Inside the chest, a scroll is visible, and the text 'Matthew 16:19-21' is written on it. The background is a textured, aged parchment-like surface.

TWO Treasuries

The eye is the lamp of the body; so then if your eye is clear, your whole body will be full of light. But if your eye is bad, your whole body will be full of darkness. If then the light that is in you is darkness, how great is the darkness!

A hand is shown holding an open wooden chest. Inside the chest, a scroll is visible with the text "Matthew 16:22-23" written on it. The background is a textured, light brown surface.

Two Eyes

No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and wealth.

A hand is shown holding a scroll that contains the text 'Matthew 16:24'. The scroll is set against a background of a wooden chest or box, with the hand appearing to be pulling the scroll out from inside. The lighting is warm and focused on the scroll and the hand.
