No Greater Love

(John 15:12-17)

15:12 “This is My commandment, that you love one another, just as I have loved you. 13 Greater love has no one than this, that one lay down his life for his friends. 14 You are My friends if you do what I command you. 15 No longer do I call you slaves, for the slave does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, for all things that I have heard from My Father I have made known to you. 16 You did not choose Me but I chose you, and appointed you that you would go and bear fruit, and that your fruit would remain, so that whatever you ask of the Father in My name He may give to you.

17 This I command you, that you love one another.

Darkness was coming.

for my PATH

A dark, misty forest path with a bright light source in the distance. The path is narrow and appears to be made of dirt or gravel, leading into a dense forest of bare trees. The overall atmosphere is somber and mysterious, with a strong contrast between the dark surroundings and the bright light at the end of the path.

Darkness is here.

“As the old saying goes, ‘Jesus loves you, Jesus forgives you, that doesn’t mean I have to’...loving unconditionally is not something everyone is able to do, and that is ok.”
