

BECAUSE IT MATTERS

THE WEIGHT OF WORSHIP

The Assembly

“To be a church, it must meet. In order not to be a collective designation for individuals with certain characteristics, the church must manifest that it is a body by being together. A family is not a family if it is never together or at least bound in memory of past gatherings and hope of future reunions. The church may survive where there is a poor program of religious education, little evangelism, virtually no benevolence; but it will not survive where it does not meet.”

- Everett Ferguson

“all who had believed were together.”

“...they had gathered together.”

“where they had gathered together.”

“where many were gathered together.”

“women who had assembled”

“you come together”

“when you come together”

“when you meet together”

“they met with the church”

“if the whole church assembles”

“when you assemble”

“having gathered the congregation”
